

The ARRL proposal is right on target and up to date with the times. But morse code testing requirement should be eliminated for all license classes.